Diocesan Strategic Plan 2017–2021

Our vision for the Anglican Diocese of the Northern Territory is to be:

Growing churches that that celebrate, talk about and demonstrate the saving work of Jesus Christ in the communities around us

We strive toward this vision by:

1. encouraging & empowering our churches to be growing & celebrating communities, drawing more Territorians into following Jesus, and showing what God's kingdom is like
2. showing that God is building a new family from all people-groups, recognising the special place of Aboriginal churches in the Diocese and building capacity and strength
3. bringing together resources to enable our ministries, and to share with those outside the privilege of being part of what God is doing in the Territory

Our main aims are:

- For all of our churches to be growing and celebrating communities through evangelism, strong leadership, strengthening faith and new initiatives
- For our Aboriginal churches to be strong and recognised as an integral part of our life via liturgical development, representation, strong leadership and belonging
- For our partnerships within and outside the Diocese to be strong and working well for the good of all through governance, promotion, new partners and engagement

We walk toward these goals to the glory of God the Father through his Son Jesus Christ in the power of the Holy Spirit with:

- ⇒ love (to serve in the best interests of those around us)
- ⇒ integrity (to act according to what we teach)
- ⇒ unity in diversity (to demonstrate that even in our differences we are one family in the Lord)
- ⇒ courage (to face uncertainty)
- ⇒ hope (to be assured of Christ working through us)
- ⇒ safety (to protect children and vulnerable people and all those who care for them at all times); and
- ⇒ faithfulness to our foundations (to serve in accordance with the Bible as received in the Anglican tradition).

History of the Diocese

The whole area, which is now the Northern Territory, came within the jurisdiction of the Diocese of Carpentaria from the turn of the 20th century. Ministry in the towns of Darwin, Katherine, Tennant Creek and Alice Springs was carried out by the Bush Brothers. The Aboriginal missions at Roper River (Ngukurr), Groote Eylandt (Angurugu), Oenpelli (Gunbalanya) and Rose River (Numbulwar) were founded and staffed by the Church Missionary Society until self-determination in the 1970s. The Diocese of the Northern Territory began as a missionary diocese in 1968, gaining the status of an ordinary diocese by resolution of General Synod in 2001.

The Diocese of the Northern Territory remains part of the Province of Queensland. It covers an area of approximately 1,346,200 square kilometres with total population of approximately 245,900. About 26.8% of the population is indigenous and 11.4% signified attachment to the Anglican Church in the last published census figures (ABS 2019).

Bishops

Bishop Kenneth Mason \(1968–83\) was installed as the First Bishop with the inauguration of the Diocese of the Northern Territory on 1 March, 1968. His installation took place in the old Christ Church, Darwin, which became the Cathedral for the new Diocese. Cyclone Tracy destroyed this building on Christmas Day, 1974. Only the entrance porch of the Cathedral remained and this is now incorporated in the 'new' Christ Church Cathedral, which was consecrated on 13 March, 1977 in the presence of the Archbishop of Canterbury. When Bishop Mason was installed, the Diocese consisted of four parishes and the CMS missions in Arnhem Land. Bishop Mason resigned in 1983, on his appointment as Chairman of the Australian Board of Missions.

Bishop Clyde Wood \(1983–91\), who had been the Dean of the Cathedral since February 1974, was elected to be the Second Bishop of the Northern Territory. He was installed on 18 October, 1983. Bishop Wood's episcopate saw the emergence of an indigenous Aboriginal church in Arnhem Land, which took the place of the former missions. He ordained Aboriginal clergy for each of the six Aboriginal parishes in Arnhem Land. Bishop Wood resigned in 1991, to become Assistant Bishop in the Diocese of Brisbane with responsibility for the Western Region. In 1996, he became the Bishop of North Queensland. Bishop Clyde returned to reside in the Diocese in 2004. In late 2013, he returned as Administrator overseeing the Diocesan operation and the process of election of the new Bishop in November, 2014. He and his wife returned to Queensland in 2017.

Bishop Richard Appleby \(1992–99\), Auxiliary Bishop of Newcastle from 1983, was elected the Third Bishop of the Northern Territory and was installed in Christ Church Cathedral on 29 February, 1992. Bishop Appleby's episcopate was notable for the growth of parish ministry across a number of the regions of the Diocese. During this time, a large number of adults were baptised and confirmed on Groote Eylandt. He directed the reconstruction of St Paul's Church in Katherine after the 1998 Australia Day flood. Bishop Appleby resigned in 1999, to become Bishop of the Northern Region in the Diocese of Brisbane.

Bishop Philip Freier (1999–2006) was consecrated in St John's Cathedral Brisbane on 22 July, 1999 and installed as Fourth Bishop of the Northern Territory in Christ Church Cathedral on 13 August. Bishop Freier oversaw the amalgamation of Anglicare Top End and Anglicare Central Australia to form Anglicare NT. The Church of the Good Shepherd at Fred's Pass was consecrated in 1999. Both Anglican churches in Tennant Creek and Katherine entered into mutual ministry agreements with the Lutheran Church. During his episcopate, the Cursillo movement broke new ground with joint men's and women's Cursillo attracting a number of Indigenous Cursillistas. Bishop Freier's ministry to and support of Aboriginal clergy and remote communities was especially enhanced by ordinations and services in local language and customs. He resigned in December 2006 to become Archbishop of Melbourne.

Bishop Greg Thompson (2007–13) was consecrated and installed as the Fifth Bishop of the Northern Territory on 31st May, 2007. During his episcopate he initiated the Diocesan Strategic Plan and actively involved the local ministry in the small and remote communities. Encouragement was given to Aboriginal leaders, including our first woman priest, Reverend Yulki Nunggumajbarr. The emergence of a Ministry Resource Unit, to co-ordinate and develop ministry training and support, saw the practices of diocesan-wide conferences, workshops and continuing education for ministry develop. It included the introduction of the Bishops' Award Programme to support mentoring for ministry and training. There was a renewal of church infrastructure and buildings including St. Mary's and The Lodge, Alice Springs, St Paul's Katherine Rectory, Christ Church Cathedral, ministry accommodation at Ngukurr, St Barnabas' Minyerri, and The Church of the Holy Spirit, Numbulwar. Bishop Greg Thompson resigned in November 2013 to become the Bishop of Newcastle.

Bishop Greg Anderson (2014 to date) was consecrated and installed as the Sixth Bishop of the Northern Territory on 29 November, 2014. In 1986 Greg began fieldwork to research the traditional songs of central Arnhem Land. He was adopted into a Rembarrnga clan and worked with musicians who became Christian through the Elcho Island Revival of 1979. This led to Greg studying theology with a view to being involved in the growth and development of the Aboriginal church.

Returning to the Northern Territory in 1995, Greg lived in Numbulwar with his wife, Annette, and their three children, Paul, Zac and Lucy. Their fourth child, Jane, was born in Darwin. Greg and Annette worked with the Church Missionary Society for the next twelve years. He trained Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island church leaders at Nungalinya College and for the Diocese of the Northern Territory. Annette worked as a music educator and musician and became the conductor of the Darwin Youth Orchestra.

The Andersons returned to Sydney in 2007 where Greg, as Head of the Department of Mission at MTC Theological College, remained until his election to be the Sixth Bishop of the Northern Territory in 2014.
